This Saturday

JV's to Host Houghton Lake

On Saturday, Sept. 19th, at 7:30 p.m. the Houghton Lake J.V.'s will come to Grayling to play the opening game of the new season. Last Saturday the junior Vikings looked very impressive against Grayling in their pre-season scrimmage Coach Howard Lehti said.

The quarterback position was shared by Wayne Westervelt, Dan Moore and Chris Dunkley. In the passing game Bob Miller, Andy Trevino, and Jim Bobenmoyer were real good receivers. Dave White and Bill Horning were the leading ground gainers for the Vikings. Bruce King, David Vajda, Pat Gorman, Steve Persing and Joe Shepler played well on defense. The entire team should be given credit for their performance Coach Lehti added.

On Wednesday night, Sept. 16th, the J.V.'s will hold a practice session under the lights at the football field. All interested spectators are welcome.

Mardi Gras At Country Club

All members of the Women's Golf Auxiliary of the Grayling Country Club, their spouse or guest, are invited to the "Mardi Gras" to be held on Saturday evening, Sept. 26th, at the Club House. Social hour will begin at 7:00 p.m., followed by presentation of the golf awards for the 1970 golf season at 8:00 p.m., and a buffet to follow. Cost is $5.00 per person. Deadline for reservations is September 22nd. All members are asked to send their checks in advance to Marilyn Longworth (treasurer).

Interested?

Anyone interested in working on committees for the 1971 Winter Carnival and Miss Michigan Winter Sports Pageant are asked to meet on Wednesday evening, September 30th, 7:30 p.m., in the Grayling City Building.

The 1970 gridiron season will get underway this Friday evening when the Grayling Vikings will journey to Houghton Lake for a non-conference contest with the Bobcats starting at 8 p.m.

Grayling's first league contest will be here on Friday night, Sept. 25 when they will entertain the Onaway Cardinals.

Onaway was the only team to defeat the Vikings last year as they rolled into their conference championship, the first since 1942. The Cardinals upset the Vikings 14-12, and Grayling finished the season with a 7-1 record.

Following the scrimmage with the Gaylord Blue Devils last Saturday, coach Mike Weiland said, that considerable work on both offense and defense would have to be undertaken this week, as the Vikings prepare for their game with the Bobcats.

Our offense just didn't look sharp at all, coach Weiland added. We tried to run at people and found out we need to change our blocking to give some of our linemen more help.

Houghton Lake appears to be a very deceptive team, with many plays that will truly test the Viking defense. The Viking offense will undergo some changes this week with several players being changed around, coach Weiland stated.

Besides coach Weiland, Don Ferguson will handle the line coaching duties for the Varsity this year, with Howard Lehti and Chuck Mires in charge of the Junior Varsity squad and Lacey Stephan over the Freshmen team.

If all goes as expected this week, coach Weiland said the possible starters this Friday night will be: Tim Mead, Mert Theaker, Jerry King and Murray Babbitt in the backfield. Don McIsaac and Brian Dunkley at ends, Arnold Gilman and Doug Legg at tackles, Jim Corlew and Ken Bindsech at guards and Clark Wilcox at center.

Defensively it will be Bindsech and Leonard Leininger at ends, Gilman and Legg at tackles, Terry Fitzpatrick, Corlew, Theaker and Tom Gates at the linebackers post, with Dunkley, Babbitt and Jim Tobin, defensive backs.

The complete varsity and JV schedule for the season is on page ten of this issue. Clip and save.

NEW OWNERS OF LOVELLS HOTEL

Mr. and Mrs. James Jimae, formerly of Miami, Fla., have purchased the Lovells Hotel from Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strang. They plan to reopen the hotel October 1st and will feature a sport shop, trailer parking, etc. They plan to be open year around.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimae have both retired from acting and he was also a ship's master between New York and Miami and Miami and Nassau. They are not new to the area, having owned Camp Romeo at Wakeley Bridge for several years at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves, their daughter and son-in-law, plan to move here from Boulder, Col. in the near future. Mr. Reeves is a general contractor and plans to start a business here while Mrs. Reeves will help her parents in the hotel. They have two teen-age sons who will attend Grayling High School.

At the present time Mrs. Jimae's sister, Melba Haswell, from Sydney, Australia is spending some time with them.

Why Jaycees?

You might have first noticed the Jaycees because of their work in the area of youth and sports activities. The Jaycees tackle projects with their own members furnishing the ideas, labor and follow-through; each Jaycee dips into areas of knowledge and experience not gained through his occupation or profession.

All young men between the ages of 21 to 36 are urged to attend an informal meeting next Monday, Sept. 21, at 8:00 p.m. at Charles Fick's, Green Timbers Subdivision, across from Bear Archery.

Sign National Contract

Ballston Spa, New York and St. Paul, Minn.: The President of the Professional Archers Association, Dave Staples of Easton, Pa., announced the finalization of a three-year contract for the Association's National Championships.

This agreement, which was recently executed between the Board of Directors of the P.A.A. and the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce has been hailed as the most significant in the history of the Association and becomes the first multiple-year contract ever negotiated by the Tournament Committee.

The tournaments are scheduled to run during the five-day period ending on the Sunday after Labor Day each year and the 1971 event will carry a $15,000 purse restricted to P.A.A. members only. The contract establishes an automatic purse increase on a yearly basis which will see the Pros competing for $20,000 in 1972 and $25,000 in 1973.

The tournament site has been tentatively selected and the area is one that will be conducive to the sport of professional archery. With the Grayling, Michigan region being an area popular for its outdoor recreational facilities and centrally located in the United States, the selection of the area for the National Pro Championships is expected to be very significant in the growth of Professional Archery and the image of archery as a competitive sport.

At American Legion Hall

Set White House Forum Sept. 23

You are encouraged to attend a White House Community Forum on September 23rd in the American Legion Hall on James Street, Grayling, Michigan, to speak out on the quality of your lives.

Mr. Earl Broadbent of Grayling, Chairman of the Forum, said that the meeting is scheduled to begin at 1:00 p.m. and will continue until 4:00 p.m., at which time we will serve cookies and coffee and enjoy group singing.

If you care to, you may come to Ausage Acres from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon for coffee and a tour of Public Housing for Senior Citizens, and the Senior Center. Lunch will be "on your own," but if you like, you may bring a sack lunch and eat at the Center.

The Forum is the first phase of a three-year plan preparing for the November 1971 White House Conference on Aging called for by President Nixon.

As part of the Conference's overall theme, "Older Americans Speak to the Nation," this area's elderly are encouraged to speak out on their needs, concerns, and possible solutions. A panel of resource people, including Social Security, Health Services, Nursing Homes, etc., will be on hand to answer questions. You will not be listening to speeches - the older Americans can do the talking. Let your opinions and needs be known.

In addition to speaking out, participants will be requested to complete questionnaires relating to the areas of Income, Health, Nutrition, Housing, Transportation, Employment, Retirement, Education, Roles and Activities, and Spiritual Well-Being.

These questionnaires will be utilized by a series of Task Forces composed of experts in the various fields affecting the aging, and will be used in preparing Michigan's resolutions and recommendations for the State White House Conference on Aging and the 1971 White House Conference.

This Forum is especially significant since an effective State policy on aging can only be developed if the specific needs of the older people are known.

Mr. Broadbent, in his role of Chairman of this area's Forum, is also serving on an Advisory Committee for the White House Conference, which serves as the liaison between the community and the Michigan Commission on Aging.

More information may be obtained either from Mr. Broadbent - phone 348-3097 - or Mrs. Lora Gould, Senior Citizen Director - (See Forum on page 12)

Letters To The Editor

To Crawford County
Full-Time and Part-Time Residents

Must we have locked gates at our dumps? I realize we must have controls for sanitary landfills, but is a locked gate the answer?

My wife, two young sons and myself enjoy taking a ride in the woods, looking for wild life and just enjoying the outdoors.

The plastic bags of garbage that have accumulated in our woods in the past year is fantastic.

My boys are seven and two years of age . . . where are they going to go for rides? Where are they going to see wild life? When they are grown men they will have to tour garbage pits on Sunday afternoon, because we have turned the country side into one big pile of litter. God, I hope not! I hope that we will encourage enforcement of litter laws. Stop littering our own environment and start now to repair the damage done already.

Lets make it easier to dispose of our trash, not lock people out of dumps . . . Punish the people who break the rules, like starting fires at dumps, not dumping in a reckless manner. Somehow lets encourage dumping in a controlled area, not in our beautiful country side.

The clean air and the out of doors in Northern Michigan means a great deal to me and I'm sure to many others. We do not realize how much, until we have ruined it and lost or destroyed the beauty of it.

Worst Time Possible

Much has been said of late concerning a constitutional amendment that would substitute the direct election of a President of the United States for the present electoral college method of selecting a man to fill the highest office in the land. Many concerned citizens are opposed to the idea of direct elections, and their ranks are growing.

In a news release, the American Farm Bureau Federation expresses deep concern about proposed elimination of the electoral college system noting that, "The establishment of the direct election of the President would be the first step in a process which eventually would abolish state representation in Congress and let population determine the apportionment of members in both Houses. The duality of our government, state and federal, has made it unique in the history of popular governments. It is the single greatest strength that sets us apart from the rest of the world." Another opponent of the direct election, Richard N. Goodwin, writing in the Washington, D.C., Post observes, "Direct election might well bring us a farmers' party, a senior citizens' party, a black party and other groups coalescing around common interest and belief . . . If this is so, then direct election could not come at a worse time — when the tendency to political fragmentation and ideological division is reaching new heights."

Direct election of a President could be the beginning of a catastrophic alteration in the U. S. constitutional system under which our people have enjoyed a greater measure of liberty than any other people in history.

Autumn Again

As the days of summer wane and the sun dips below the horizon a little earlier each evening, we know that nature is sending out its first gentle warning of a new season. On September 23, the sun crosses an imaginary line and Autumn begins. For many parts of the world, Autumn is a season of high color. The leaves of the trees, as they don their most brilliant hues, seem to consciously strive to outdo each other in attracting the attention of passers-by. Legendary visions of a harvest moon and corn shucks ushers in the spirit of Halloween.

In the "South 48", Jack Frost treads softly bringing color and briskness to the scene. Since Alaska has been added to the roster of states, it is fitting to note that Autumn steals across the North with sharper but equally fascinating changes. Those who know say that Alaska, in the fall, is enchanting. But then, what section of our great nation is not, as we turn the corner of a new season?

Copper-Saving Wire Developed

Copper-clad aluminum building wire has been developed to conserve the nation's copper resources.

The new product is only 10 per cent copper by volume, compared to the traditional conductor of 100 per cent.

"Cop-R-Clad is a part of General Cable Corporation's material substitution program designed to lower U.S. dependence on foreign copper sources," Donald N. Frey, president, said. Approximately 13 per cent of all unfabricated copper consumed in the U.S. is imported.

"The new building wire provides user benefits comparable to traditional building wire, maximizes the usage of more plentiful aluminum while offering electrical characteristics of copper," Mr. Frey said.

Please Cut The Gas

By Jim Fitzgerald

On the day the war ended in Japan, I was aboard an old Liberty ship, seasick on the Atlantic, in the brig, headed from Germany to Japan via a 30-day orgy at home.

Twentyfive years later, almost to the day, the U.S. Army again made splendid use of an old Liberty ship. The Pentagon brains loaded the ship with nerve gas and sank it in that same Atlantic.

Was it the same Liberty ship? Maybe. Unfortunately I can't remember the name of the ship that brought me home. But no matter.

The important thing is that it is the same U.S. Armed Forces.

While military scientists were littering fish to death, the Air Force was also involved in a magnificent operation. At Lackland Air Force Base in Texas, 15 airmen were spending the day cutting out 10,000 pictures of their commanding general.

The base newspaper had printed a photo of the general, showing only his head. You couldn't see the stars and decorations, for goodness sakes. So the officer in charge ordered that 10,000 newspapers be distributed with 10,000 holes in them. He also fired the editor, always a wise move in such cases.

You are probably wondering what happened to the 10,000 offensive clippings. Well, I'll tell you. They were stuffed into a steel foot locker. The locker was put aboard an old LST landing craft. The LST was pushed to the middle of the Mississippi by two Pfc's in GI swimming trunks. A helicopter then dropped a small atom bomb on the craft, sinking it and the clippings forever.

But getting back to my Liberty ship, you are probably wondering what a nice fellow like me was doing in the ship's brig (that's the jail, landlubbers). Well, I won't tell.

Rest assured, I was an innocent victim of circumstances. And the circumstances were much crueler than they might have been. That lousy brig was in the bow. There was a terrible storm on the North Atlantic and you can't believe how that bow went up and down, up and down. Seasick? Those were the most miserable five days of my life.

So I hope it was my Liberty ship that carried the nerve gas to the bottom. But that was only 1% of the U.S. supply of the deadly gas. What's going to be done with the other 99%?

The gas is a marvelously inhuman weapon and any self-respecting fiend would be proud of creating it. But the nerve gas is indiscriminate and leaky. It could turncoat and kill us all simply because we can't find an enemy we hate enough to spray with the stuff.

It is a military mess and an ordinary, exasperated civilian is tempted to ask: "Why don't they just cut it out?"

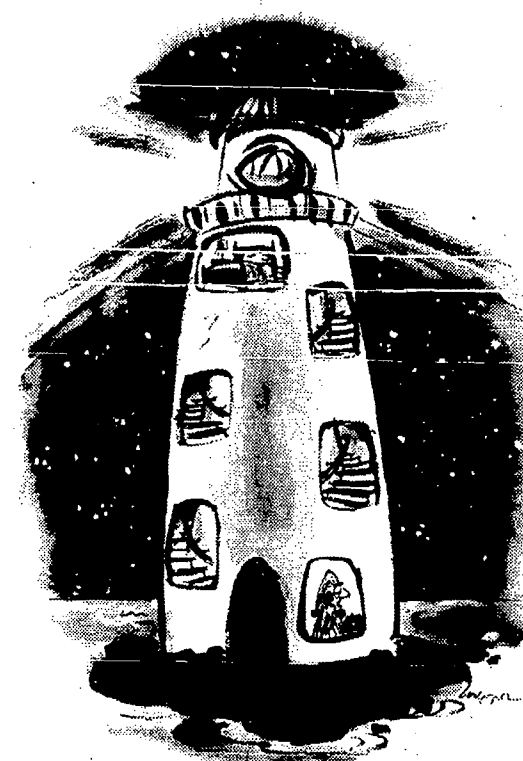

Ah. Obviously a job for the Air Force officer who ordered the 10,000 cut-outs.

Onward and Upward.

The Old Timer

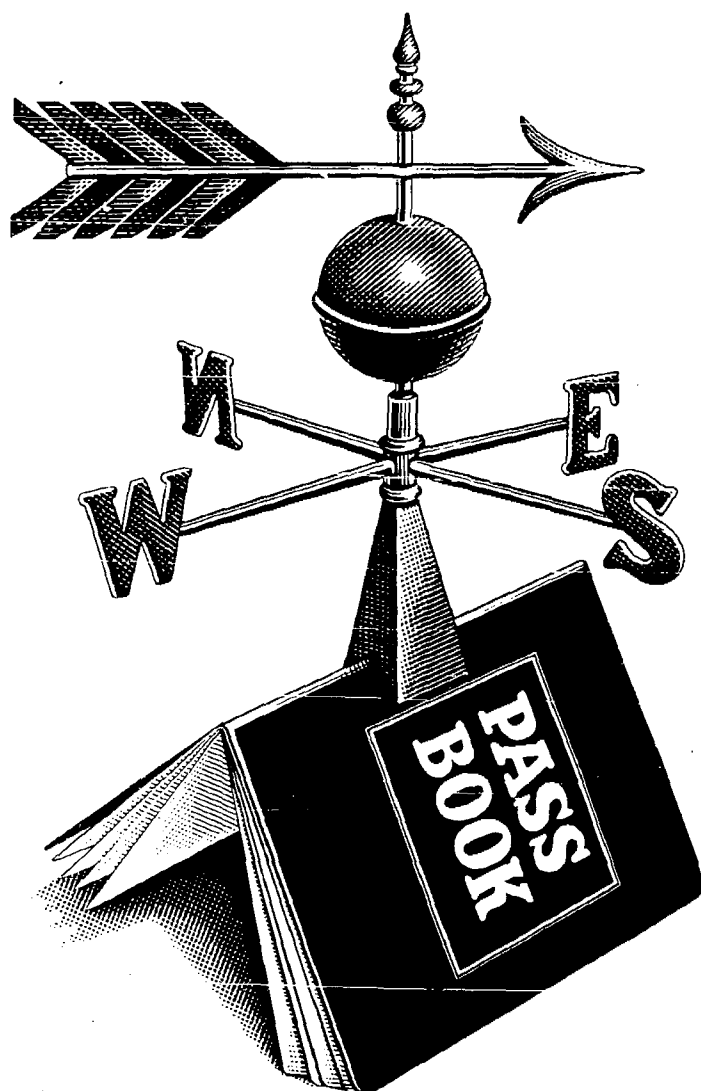

"Money no longer talks; it goes without saying."

"No, you didn't exactly get me up."

Getting up in the middle of the night to answer the phone can really get you down. For just a few cents a day you can have an extension phone in your bedroom and save yourself a few steps.

Linda Christian On Ferris Honors List

Big Rapids, Mich. — Ferris State College has honored 404 students for scholastic excellence in the Summer Quarter by naming them to the Academic Honors List. Announcement was made by Dr. Robert L. Huxol, vice president for instruction.

To be named to the Academic Honors List, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

Students named to the list include: Linda M. Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Christian of Grayling, in Teacher Education.

State Police Seek Trooper Candidates

Young Michigan men in the 21 to 30 age group, inclusive, are advised that the State Police are seeking trooper candidates for enrollment in forthcoming recruit schools, said Col. Frederick E. Davids, department director.

Following the graduation September 11 of 24 members of the seventy-seventh recruit school, tentative plans are to begin another school in November.

Davids again stressed that the State Police Department is an equal opportunity employer and urged young men of all races to apply. A State Police officer career is a challenging and rewarding one, he said.

Eligible to apply are men in the above age group who are U.S. citizens and who have been residents of the state at least a year. They must have a high school education or the equivalent.

Candidates must be at least 5 feet 9 inches tall with weight ranges of 150 to 230 pounds in proportion to height. They must be in good physical condition and meet certain vision and hearing standards. They must be of good moral character and have no serious arrest record. They may be married or single.

Trooper pay begins, including time in recruit school at a bi-weekly rate of $207.20 or $3,017.20 annually. The current schedule shows pay in the trooper rank climbing to maximums in five years of $433.60 biweekly and $11,316.56 annually. State Police officers can retire on pensions at half-pay after 25 years of service.

Interested young men can obtain application blanks and other information by contacting any State Police post or by writing to the Michigan Department of Civil Service in Lansing.

AMERICAN LEGION FALL CONFERENCE AT SOO OCT. 9-11

Sault St. Marie will open its gates on October 9, 10, and 11 for The American Legion of Michigan's annual Fall Conference.

Hundreds of Legionnaires representing almost every community in the State will convene at the Sault for three days where the newly elected and appointed Legion Officers at Post, District and State levels will obtain direction to efficiently plan their means of operation for a hopefully successful Legion year.

Prominent on the schedule will be schools of instruction covering the different programs sponsored by The American Legion for the new Legion officers and committee members.

Highlighting the conference will be a long list of honorable guests: The Honorable William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan; The Honorable John O. Harrington, Mayor of the city of Sault St. Marie; J. Addington Wagner and Raymond J. Kelly, Past National Commanders; and David Bruegel, of East Lansing elected President of The American Legion sponsored Boy's Nation.

DEM CANDIDATE FOR 36th DISTRICT

Mrs. Erika Belmoor, Democratic candidate, for State Senator, 36th District, regrets deeply the position of Attorney General, Frank J. Kelley in keeping the parochial issue off the November ballot; I am looking upon this arbitrary procedure with great dismay.

At the time when funds for public schools are short, it is unreasonable to release financial commitments for private schools; parochialism has no merit and dangerously opens the door to future enormous expenditures to be financed by the property owners. Property taxes, now, are so high that more load will force confiscation, especially for fixed income groups.

Frank J. Kelley personal ruling, rejecting the ballot petition is not acceptable to me; no value is accrued to the people when this fight continues to extreme conclusions. This 'hot potato' has been bouncing from pillar to post with no one having enough courage to stop the merry-go-round; now, it rests in the Court. When and where do we go from here? Let's take the easy way: on a question of such future magnitude for the people of Michigan, we 'the people' demand the right to vote for a Democratic conclusion.

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug plays an important role in helping keep the American economy on the move, strong and dynamic! Before beer reaches the consuming public it employs 60,000 workers in the brewing industry alone and 1 million in collateral and support businesses and industries, paying $1.5 billion in state and federal excise taxes, over $2.7 billion in wages to employees, and distributors, and $1 billion for agricultural products and packaging. Lockwood, Durant Take Spotlight

When Republican delegates who attended the August State convention reminisce in the future, chances are they will remember most vividly two events at that convention.

One would be the nomination of Emil Lockwood for secretary of state. Most convention oldtimers said they had never seen anything like the 10-vote, down-to-the-wire rollcall decision that gave Lockwood the nomination over State Rep. Weldon Yeager.

It was a fascinating experience on the convention floor, with nobody exactly certain what was going on as the various counties and even individual delegates started shifting their votes and uncovering new ones.

The outcome was not changed by the 90-minute maneuvering before the final tally was counted. Lockwood led by 13 votes when the first county list was completed; he led by 10 after all the shifting was done. Either was enough for victory, and Lockwood won.

The rest of the Republican ticket fell into line pretty much on schedule. James Brickley was duly appointed as candidate for lieutenant governor; Gov. Milliken had said early that Brickley was his man. William Farr of Grand Rapids, another Milliken recruit for the ticket, was selected for attorney general over token opposition. The two nominees for the supreme court will be incumbent Justice John R. Deethmers and Detroit Circuit Judge Edward Piggins; nobody else applied for the job.

And further down the ticket are a bunch of guys named Joe for eight statewide elective education posts; now, isn't that an impossible request to ask the average Michigan voter to choose intelligently for those jobs?

But the Lockwood-Yeager fight stole the convention spotlight — and it could leave a lot of scabs under the surface of party unity. The race was really too close to satisfy either the winner or the loser, or the backers.

Many of the loser's backers resent the campaign techniques and the tactics and the spending of the winner, and vice versa. This is always the case in the tight contest, but more so when the contest is as tight as the Lockwood-Yeager one was.

Whether the Lockwood win is really very important remains to be seen. He will run against Democrat Richard Austin. Lockwood is white and from outstate; Austin is Negro and from Detroit. These facts should not make a difference in either the campaigning or the result, but they probably will.

Lockwood has been in state politics since 1962, and still eludes classification as either a liberal or a moderate or a conservative. That he is an effective tactician cannot be denied. For his nomination, he drew heavy support from the usual conservative areas of the state — such as the Detroit-area districts presided over by Richard Durant and those in southwestern Michigan near Chicago.

Many from those districts think in Lockwood they have their conservative candidate on the state ticket; who's to argue?

If Lockwood should beat Austin, he would be lined up in a successor role to Milliken. Somehow in Michigan, secretaries of state have a habit of trying to become governor; some of them make it, too.

The second event that could be memorable was the brief tableau put on by the right-wing's Richard Durant, who has been battling the Romney-Milliken state leadership for many years, and other leaders of the same mold before that.

Durant was offered for lieutenant governor. He withdrew with an excellent little speech pleading for party unity, cautioning conservatives not to leave the Republican party.

"Your home is in the Republican party," he told his conservative backers. "Stay in the Republican party and become the leadership of the Republican party, and in the meantime recognize that the Republican party is your home."

Most Republicans in the huge convention hall cheered and smiled, figuring that Durant had provided just the right unity touch to help pull the Republican party back together after the splintering effects of the Aug. 4 primary.

In the process, Durant has also provided himself with an excellent base for a new respectability within the Republican party — a base from which to operate perhaps more successfully in the next few years.

Back in 1960, Durant was a delegate to the national convention in Chicago that nominated Richard Nixon the first time. Sen. Barry Goldwater was also offered in nomination in 1960, partly as a conservative rebellion against a Nixon-Rockefeller cohesion that produced a liberal platform, much to the dismay of many conservatives at that time.

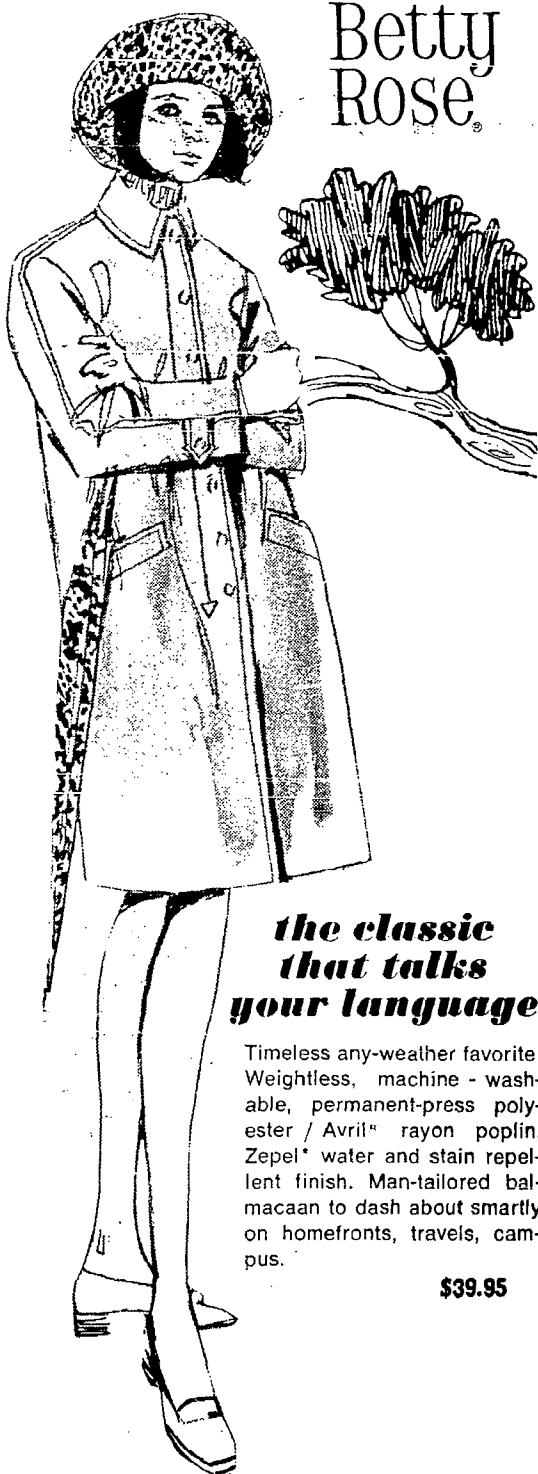

Durant either has a finely-hued memory, or he reviewed his 1960 notes, because he used the same approach, the same ideas, and many of the same phrases that Goldwater used in 1960 in his appeal to conservatives to work within the party structure and take it over.

As Durant pointed out in his 1970 talk, Goldwater came back four years later as the nominee, and with his conservative cohorts in charge of the party — and many are still in positions of persuasive power today.

Whether Durant wants to be the nominee for governor in 1974 is questionable, but that he wants conservatism to dominate Michigan Republicanism cannot be argued.

Again, whether Durant's public move toward unity is really memorable depends on events yet to be unfolded. But he had a purpose in his convention plea; Dick Durant never makes a political move by accident.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277
Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. My personal health insurance policy has served me well for quite a few years. I'm going to be 65 next year and eligible for Medicare. I know I could save money by dropping my present coverage, but I've heard Medicare doesn't cover the same things. What do you suggest I do?

A. Let's answer the question this way. Although 20 million older Americans now have the larger part of their hospital and medical costs paid by Medicare, 11 million of these people have bought protection through private insuring organizations to supplement Medicare. The reason: Medicare does not pay all health care expenses. The major items not covered by Medicare are private duty nursing and out-of-hospital drugs. Other items not covered are routine physical check-ups, eyeglasses or examinations for the purpose of prescribing hearing aids, immunizations, orthopedic shoes, dental work, and any personal comfort items.

When you turn 65 you will be automatically covered under Medicare for most hospital expenses including 60 days for each spell of illness. At a cost of $5.30 per month, you can also get Medicare coverage for physicians' services, and other medical services.

The 11 million persons who have both Medicare and private coverage rely on Medicare to pay their major costs while the private protection under indemnity coverage helps to handle drug, nursing or other costs.

Two factors to consider at your age are the kind of policy you now have and what you can afford to pay. Medical costs are increasing rapidly. Depending upon your physical condition and medical history, as well as your financial resources, it may be a good idea to retain that portion of your personal coverage which will help take care of the expenses not paid by Medicare.

Figure out what your retirement needs will be and what you can afford to pay for medical care. Then sit down with your insurance agent. He'll be able to adapt your present program to your Medicare benefits to give you the best coverage for your dollar.

You Lead The Way With

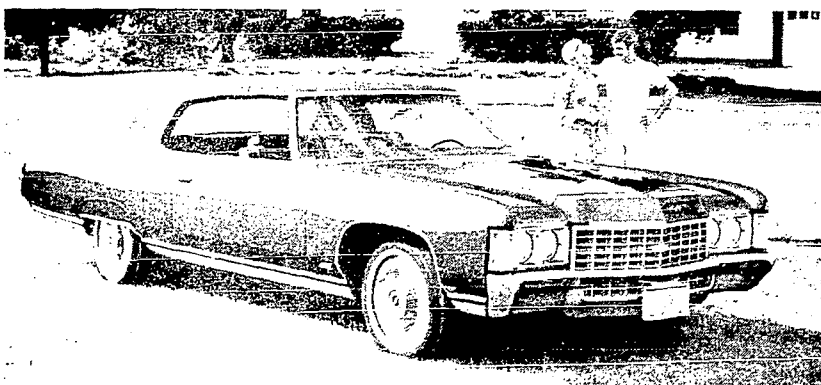

DETROIT The 1971 Cadillac features a new low horizontal front end motif with widely-spaced head lamps set into individual bezels as shown on this Sedan de Ville (top). The front bumper has greater impact and parking protection and enhances the new horizontal look. Two vertical chrome bumper guards with rubber impact strips frame the license plate and reduce possible bumper damage. The grille is of traditional Cadillac cross-hatch design and features an in-depth frame for each opening. All standard Cadillacs are powered by a 472 cubic inch engine designed to operate on leaded or new low pollutant fuels.

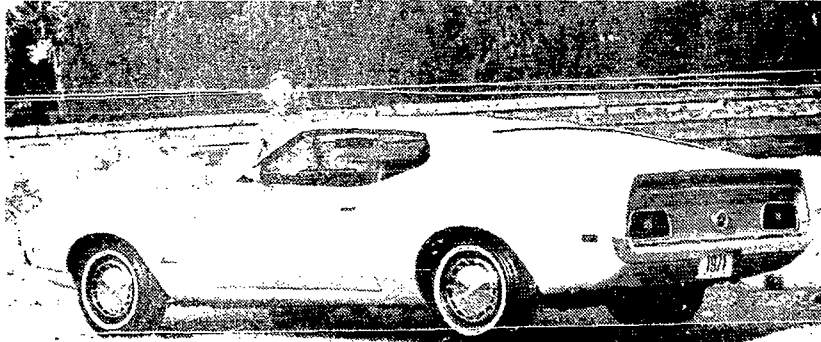

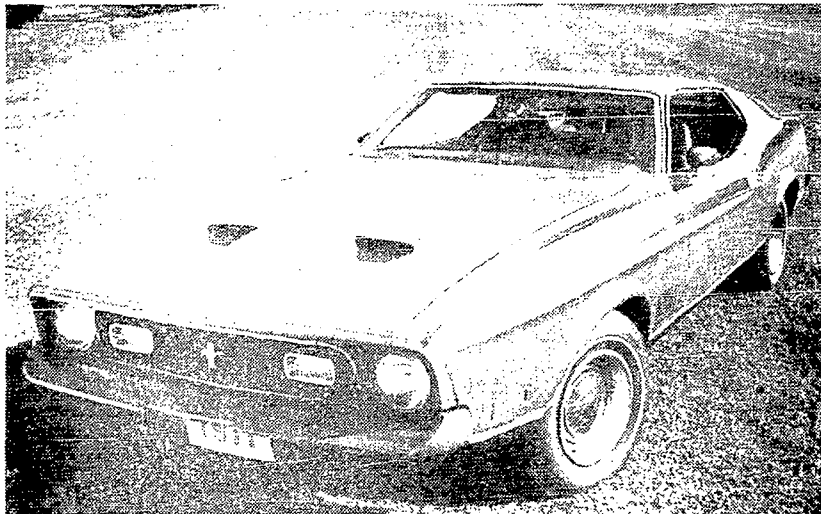

The Cadillac Fleetwood Eldorado Coupe (bottom) is totally new for 1971. The tailored and chiseled lines of the '71 model draw parallels between the great era of the fine classics and the new Eldorado. The bevel on the long hood continues through the body to the rear quarter and is finished by a painted accent stripe. Adding a proud touch on the hood is a new standard Cadillac crest, spring mounted to meet the safety requirements and resist damage. The horizontal head lamp are framed by a crisp fender highlight above the head lamp bezel for a delicate touch. The boldness of the grille with a new vertical accent, dramatically complements the 500 cubic inch Eldorado engine. The vertical bars framing the license plate have rubber impact strips for greater impact and parking protection. The coach-style fender wheel is low in the upper rear quarter is seen as a style leader of the future.

Luxury abounds in

1971 Chevrolet Caprice Coupe

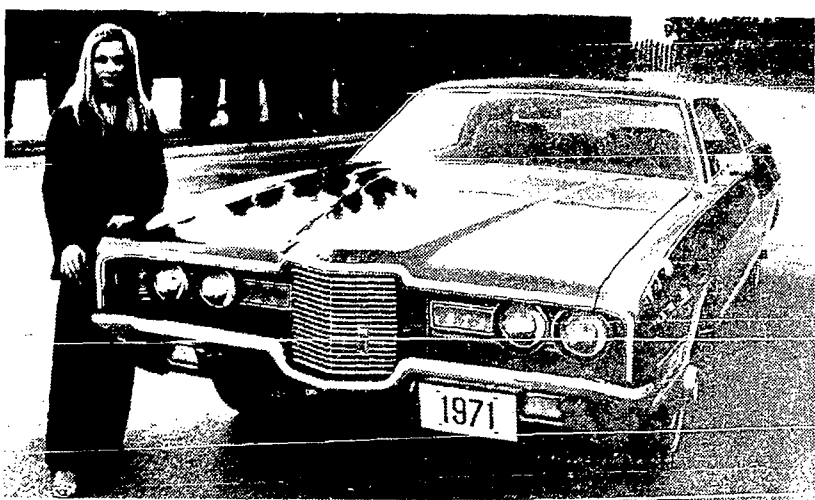

The 1971 regular Chevrolets are the most luxurious the division has ever built. There is greater glass area for improved visibility. Glass and body contours are more rounded. Flush lift up door handles add to high smoothness. The Caprice gets added distinction with a special large grid grille, deep ribbed wheel covers and standard rear fender skirts. Wheelbase of regular Chevrolet is extended 2.5 inches for added riding comfort and increased rear leg room. The body has a new flow-through ventilation system and greater strength double-panel roof construction. The new chassis and suspension system give improved ride and handling. A power disc/drum brake system is standard. New Chevrolets go on sale Tuesday, September 29.

The 1971 Mustang Mach I (top) features a unique hood, grille and front bumper. The color-keyed, air-foil-shaped, urethane molded bumper doubles as an efficient air-spoiler, improving high speed roadability. The Mustang SportsRoof model (bottom) features a unique "flat roof" design in combination with Mustang's all-new sheet metal for '71.

For 1971, Oldsmobile's intermediate models—bearing the F-85, Cutlass, Cutlass 'S', Cutlass Supreme and 4-4-2 nameplates—have been smartly redesigned to enhance their sporty appearance. The Cutlass 'S' series consists of a Hardtop Coupe (above) and a Sports Coupe. Suspension improvements in all of the new Oldsmobiles result in a smoother, quieter and more stable ride.

The 1971 Ford LTD is highlighted by this new front end treatment featuring a forward-thrusting center grille section and dual exposed headlamps. This LTD two-door Brougham includes a new, standard high back bench seat which eliminates the need for separate headrests. Ford's new side impact protection system, flush door handles, concealed windshield wipers and a new two-tiered, coved instrument panel also are standard features of the 1971 Ford.

Today's younger generation is often pictured as being made up of individuals who are wholly dependent upon "wheels." Without cars or some other means of mechanical transportation, they tend to be nearly helpless.

This image was destroyed, at least in part, by three Benzie County youths who walked from Lake Huron to Lake Michigan over the "Shore-To-Shore Riding and Hiking Trail." Tom Crain, Jim Forrester and Don Charles did it, they said, because as far as they could find out, nobody had done it before while carrying all food, shelter and clothing on their backs.

Now attending their senior year at Benzie Central High School, the trio regard their 230-mile hike as the high point of the past summer. Far from being just a lark, the two weeks gave them an experience they could get in no other way. They recommend it heartily to anyone else looking for a modern-day adventure.

The trail they followed started on the Lake Huron beach at Tawas City and took them thru Iosco, Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Benzie and Leelanau counties. Their trip ended at Empire in the shadow of Sleeping Bear Dune.

It was no spur-of-the-moment jaunt. They planned carefully for almost a year to make sure nothing was overlooked. Their basic gear was a Gerry mountain pack containing pack frame, pack sack, down sleeping bag with foam pad and a tent, all weighing just 13 pounds. To this was added necessary dried foods, clothing and fishing gear, bringing the total load for each youth up to almost 50 pounds.

Half of their groceries were cached at Grayling, half-way point in the hike, to save carrying even more weight.

The trail, mostly on state and national forest lands, also follows power lines, some county roads and private property. In places it proved to be poorly marked and the boys were lost several times. Fortunately, they had good maps and were able to get back on the trail each time.

Temperatures ranging from near freezing to 90 degrees, blisters, a case of poison ivy, hordes of insects, thunderstorms and even a near-miss by a small tornado were all part of the adventure they survived. Balancing it out, however, were spectacular scenery never seen by motorists, cool swims in trout streams and lakes, fishing in little-known waters and the sight of deer, raccoons, a rare bald eagle and many other wildlife species.

"An experience like this really makes you appreciate what you have," said Don. "Your home, family, friends, car, even a simple thing like a glass of cold water, all take on special meaning. You can never understand this, though, unless you get into a similar situation." Tom and Jim agreed.

Being on their own for two full weeks in the woods moved these three young men closer to manhood. Each came home more aware of what real freedom means and they will cherish it the rest of their lives.

It also showed them that "wheels" are not absolutely necessary under certain conditions. That part didn't become permanent, though. They were hardly home and rested when, from three separate households, the same question rang out: "Say, Dad, can I have the keys to the car tonight?"

unsung hero

Hail to the unsung hero — the electric water heater that's truly the appliance hero of the household. It provides hot water for showers... hot water for the automatic dishwasher... hot water for the automatic washer... hot water for cleaning — why it's probably the hardest-working appliance in the home. And such a modest hero! It hides in a closet... under a sink... or in some other out-of-the-way place. (It can be installed almost anywhere because it needs no vent or flue.) A compact, 40-gallon size provides enough hot water to handle the needs of 97% of all families. See your electric appliance dealer or Consumers Power Company today about putting an unsung hero in your home!
